CLONAMERY

A Cemetery Mass will be celebrated at Clonamery Cemetery on Friday week, July 26th, at 7.30 pm. If the weather does not permit, mass will take place in Clodiagh Church instead.

Clonamery Church ruins, maintained by The Board of Works as National Monument 77, is a pre-Norman church that was traditionally associated with St Brendan, the patron of the nearby Clodiagh Church. We look forward to this celebration at this very special monument that would be the pride and jewel of any parish. Please inform anyone you feel might be interested in this forthcoming Mass.

Thank You

Thanks to everyone who came to pray for their deceased at Cappagh cemetery on Friday. Thank God for the fine evening, albeit somewhat threatening! Parking was excellent once again this year, thanks to Sheila Hoey for the use of the field, and to all the local stewards who helped directing cars. Thanks also to the collectors for their work which helps defray costs and supports parish funds.

Thanks to the Sacristans, Reader, Eucharistic Ministers and anyone else who helped. It was much appreciated by the crowds that attended.
